

Credit Card Processing Liability Release

Due to the recent proliferation of credit card programs such as “Zero-fee Credit Card Processing,” “Cash Discount” programs, credit card surcharging, and “Reverse Cash Discount” programs, and the confusion around these programs; Good’s Technology Services requires a signed liability release before configuring any StoreLIVE! software or StoreLIVE! connected hardware. Good’s Technology Services is concerned that you fully understand the program to be implemented.

I, _____, fully understand the rules and regulations of the card program that I am requesting Good’s Technology to implement. I understand that the card brands (Visa, Mastercard, Discover, etc.) and the federal government have rules and regulations regarding fees and surcharges added to credit card sales. I take full responsibility to verify that the correct cards are charged properly, and the correct fee(s) are collected. I will not hold Good’s Technology Services responsible for any loss of funds; inability to collect authorized funds; fines charged by the credit card processor, card brands, and/or issuing bank; or any other responsibility related to the configuration of point-of-sale equipment and credit card terminals.
